About Stamford Therapeutics Consortium

Stamford Therapeutics Consortium is a privately owned and operated investigational site specializing in clinical trials for the pharmaceutical and biotechnology industries. Founded in 1994, STC operates as an independent investigational site established solely to conduct the highest quality clinical trials so that new, safe and effective medications can be found for various diseases. Working with multiple investigators in a broad array of medical specialties, STC's staff includes three, highly experienced clinical research coordinators and two patient recruiters/site managers. STC is committed to helping sponsors meet and exceed their patient recruitment, efficiency, and quality assurance/data integrity goals. With over a decade of experience, STC has conducted over 250 national and multi-national clinical trials. Headquartered in Stamford, Connecticut, STC actively recruits patients from all over the region. For more information please visit www.stctrials.com or call 203-325-8529.
